

Chinese Learners Handbook of 500 Groups of Confusing Words (Chinese-English) (Chinese Edition)

Closely based on the Syllabus of Graded Words and Characters for Chinese Proficiency, this book differentiates, analyzes and interprets in detail 500 groups of confusing words. Each group of words is composed of three parts, namely annotation, usage discrimination and true or false judgment. Each word is illustrated with pinyin, grade (A, B, C, D), part of speech, antonym and annotation. In addition, overlapped forms of verb and adjective are marked out together with different pronunciations of polyphonic words. True or False Judgment is close to the question type of tests for the sake of self-test and self-examination by students. All synonyms in the book are carefully selected from questions raised by learners of Chinese and summarized by compilers based on their years of teaching experience. Therefore, the book has a strong pertinence.
